

HOOVER LAUDS COMPLETION OF RIVER TREATY

Agreement Must Be Ratified by Senate, Canadian Dominion Parliament

WASHINGTON, July 18. — (AP) — The St. Lawrence river treaty, fought for more than a decade to open the great Mid-West with a sea-way from the Great Lakes to the ocean, was signed today by the United States and Canada.

Secretary Stimson signed for the United States and W. D. Herridge, Canadian minister to Washington, for the Dominion.

Must Be Ratified
The agreement must be ratified by the United States Senate and by the Canadian Dominion Parliament before becoming effective. Both the Parliament and Congress also must appropriate funds for construction of much of the 27-foot deep waterway from the St. Lawrence river to the lakes. It will take 10 years to complete the project.

As the treaty was signed a statement by President Hoover was given out hailing the accomplishment as fulfillment of the promise he made to the people of the Midwest in his campaign for election.

Admit 90 Per Cent

The channel to be built, he said, "will admit practically 90 per cent of ocean shipping of the world to our lake cities of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota."

In Ottawa, Premier Bennett said the action fulfills his pledge made in Winnipeg, June, 1930.

In Duluth, Minn., with Superior, Wis., the largest American port to be linked with the Atlantic by the development, the news was announced by blowing of factory whistles and preparation for a great civic jubilee.

Cost $43 Millions

The project will cost the two nations $43,000,000, an amount almost equally divided. In addition to opening the interior to navigation, it will yield approximately 2,200,000 horsepower of electric energy.

It involves developing the St. Lawrence river for a 181 mile stretch from Montreal to Lake Ontario. Two dams, the upper one at Cryslar Island 20 miles east of Ogdensburg, N. Y., and the lower at Barnhart Island, 20 miles away, will maintain the depth of 27 feet in the navigation canal, and through powerhouses to be built at either end of each dam will produce the huge output. The Cryslar site is estimated to produce 429,960 horsepower, and the Barnhart Island one 1,607,000.

On 181 Mile Stretch

The contemplated expenditures are chiefly on this 181 mile stretch. Canada is to have credit for the cost of the New Welland canal, connecting Lake Ontario and Lake Erie, which is about $128,000,000. This is the largest single item credited to either country for work already done.

It is estimated the cost to the United States of the proposed development will be $272,453,000 and that of Canada $276,976,600. Neither government will pay out anything like these entire sums, because of credits for work already done on the waterway.

Ontario will contribute approximately $109,000,000 to the dominion's share of construction in consideration of the power which is to go to that province.

Payment Reduced

The American payment will be reduced by whatever contribution New York state makes for the construction of power plants. The United States originally asked New York state to pay $150,000,000, but New York objected and offered about one-half that sum for the privilege of marketing the American half of the power, which will be 1,100,000 horsepower.

In Albany today it was figured, though without an official calculation, that the state's share of cost should approximate $85,000,000.

Recently President Hoover informed Governor Roosevelt—his opponent for the presidency in the November election—that agreements between New York state and the federal government would be made after the treaty was completed.

Roosevelt had sought an immediate conference to appropriate the cost. Neither New York state nor Ontario (Continued on Page Two)

DEMAND EMMERSON CALL SESSION TO CONSIDER TAX

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — Demand that Governor Emerson call a special session of the legislature to consider enactment of a consumers sales tax was made today by Representative Raymond T. O'Keefe of Chicago.

In a letter to the governor Representative O'Keefe asserted such a tax would cut taxes 50 per cent, raise about $20,000,000 in revenue per month, and make citizens more "tax-conscious."

Doomed Horse Looks at Gun, Passes Away

EVANSTON, July 18. — (AP) — "Sandy," Evanston's oldest city-owned horse and once the pride of the galloping fire department, cheated the executioner today and beat a death sentence.

Not that the city wanted him killed. When a horse rounds out 30 years of service in city work, first as a fire horse, then as a garbage hauler, he gains friends. No one wanted to see Sandy die. But he was old and infirm and feeble. Death was for his own good.

It was planned to kill him. A policeman, a friend of Sandy's, was designated to fire the fatal shot so Sandy would die quickly with little pain.

Sandy, tottering on his legs, was led up an incline by an incinerator-his crematory. Sorrowfully the policeman eyed him. The policeman raised his pistol. Sandy moved his head from right to left nodding farewell to old friends. Sandy then looked into the muzzle of the gun—and dropped dead. Veterinarians said it either was heart failure or plain old age.

POLYGAMY, CAMEL TROOPS, KNIGHTS ARE DISAPPEARING

Prof. Nickoley, Beirut University of Syria, Discusses Eastern Empire in Lecture

Polygamy, camel trains, and Arabian knights are fast disappearing in the "unchanging east." Prof. E. F. Nickoley, visiting professor from Beirut university, Syria, in his discussion of the eastern empires last night in Lincoln Hall theater, pictured a new civilization arising out of the crescent-shaped regions of what was once known as Turkey, Palestine, Egypt, Syria, Mesopotamia, Arabia, and the Balkans.

"To know them, we must look into their past—a rich cultural background—starting far beyond the scope of western historians," he said. "Amid a pallid, backward existence we find memorials to the once living culture, sciences, writings, arts, and laws, in the valleys of the Euphrates, the Nile, and the Tigris. Three of the greatest religions in the world had their origins in these parts."

In Savage State

"When Europe was still in a savage state, these civilizations were thriving. Westerners learned from them, effected and copied them, and soon outstripped the near easterners in advancement," he stated.

During the middle ages, while Europe was moving forward in culture and growth, the near east came to a standstill. Our generation sees them in an unchanging state, much as they were at that time. The mentality of the people causes them not to worry about their condition. To us, their mystic fatalism has become a characteristic—an admitted inertia, a rationalization of this feeling of helplessness.

Becoming European

Recently, although still backward as we see them, conditions are changing. Material environment is especially becoming European. The donkey is no longer the common transport. Fine motor cars have taken their place on the highways of the cities. Furniture has come into the homes. Western clothes have replaced the picturesque garb of the Arab and the Syrian.

"In commercial activity, they have not yet made the same progress. The primitive ideas still predominate in production. Farming is still carried on with the crooked stick, the threshing floor, and stone sled. Olive (Continued on Page Two)

RAINEY WARNS SENATE, HOUSE ABOUT REPORTS

Democratic Leader Says President's Statement is 'Absolutely Erroneous'

WASHINGTON, July 18. — (AP) — A warning that Senate and House officials may have to answer with their jobs if loan reports of the Reconstruction Finance corporation are not made public, was sounded today by Representative Rainey, Democratic House leader.

He said that in spite of the President's statement accepting a contrary interpretation by some Senate leaders of the relief bill publicity section, "these reports will be made public."

In a statement on the $2,123,000,000 relief measure he intends to sign tomorrow, Mr. Hoover has said:

Possible Destructive
"The possible destructive effect upon credit institutions by the so-called publicity clause has been neutralized by the declaration of the Senate leaders of all parties that this provision is not to be retroactive and that the required monthly reports of future transactions are of confidential nature and must be so held by the clerks of the Senate and House of Representatives unless otherwise ordered by the Congress when in session."

Is Erroneous

Rainey said: "The President's statement as to the publicity feature of the relief bill is absolutely erroneous, notwithstanding the fact some Senate leaders made statements on the floor of the Senate as the President said. Newspaper reporters will be able to get the information during the summer by applying to the clerk of the House or the secretary of the Senate."

"If these officials refuse this information they will be guilty of malfeasance and subject to removal, in spite of the President's statement. If they are not made public we will have the clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate on the carpet when Congress convenes again."

8 STUDENTS WILL GET SCHOLARSHIPS

Hoffman, Reicin, Twente, Fruit Will Receive Full Tuition

The winners of eight Law scholarships for the ensuing year in the College of Law were announced yesterday.

Of these four are full tuition scholarships and are given to the four students in the college having the highest averages in their law work in the preceding year. The other four are one-half tuition scholarships given to the four students in the college having the next highest averages in their law work in the preceding year.

The full tuition scholarships awarded are: Abe L. Hoffman, Champaign; Frank E. Reicin, Chicago; Asa D. Twente, Cairo; George A. Fruit, Decatur.

The half-tuition scholarships awarded are: William M. Rice, Tuscola; Loren E. Lewis, Benton; Hugh J. Graham, Jr., Springfield; Frank V. Flaska, Berwyn.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA TO HOLD WEEKLY LUNCHEON

The weekly luncheon of Kappa Phi Kappa, educational fraternity, will be held at noon today in Bradley hall. Dr. Tyler, visiting instructor and supervisor of junior high schools of Allegheny county, Maryland, will speak on "The Need for the Revision of Curriculum in High Schools."

Discouraged Bonus Seekers Head Homeward

WASHINGTON, July 18. — (AP) — A long line of homesick and discouraged bonus seekers, disregarding the stern disapproval of their leaders, shuffled steadily through the veterans administration offices today securing transportation home.

Emergency office space was set up in the corridors to handle as many applications as possible. As each man drew his ticket he was taken to the rear of the building and given, free of cost, a square meal before his departure.

There was mild excitement at police court some distance from the veterans administration when two men were arrested for attempting to organize a protest against the trial of four of their comrades arrested for trying to picket the White House Saturday night.

Those arrested were Alfred Hale, Detroit, and John Fabroskoski, of Pittsburgh. Judge Isaac Hitt previously had cleared the court room of veterans who congregated to hear the trials. Two of the defendants were found guilty of disorderly conduct and a third of parading without a permit.

Another defendant, Urban Ledoux, New York welfare worker known as "Mr. Zero," was fined $40. A woman paid his fine.

In the meantime the ranks of the dwindling bonus army were split into antagonistic factions.

John Pace, leader of the left wing, was ordered from a meeting called by Roy W. Robertson, commander of the California contingent, which marched for four days and nights in front of the capitol.

Roosevelt's Wife Is Said To Be a Dry

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 18. — (AP) — The Poughkeepsie Eagle-News quoted a member of the women's organization for national prohibition reform tonight as saying Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had declared her personal sentiment to be "dry."

Mrs. Albert J. Aikin of Pawling, N. Y., acting chairman of the Dutchess county branch of the organization, telephoned the Eagle-News, relating an incident she said occurred at the Roosevelt "Homecoming" party at Hyde Park, July 9.

Mrs. Aikin said she approached Mrs. Roosevelt, who was in a group of women, with a request that she sign a membership card in the organization, and thereby endorse her husband's wet stand as the Democratic presidential nominee.

Mrs. Aikin said Mrs. Roosevelt replied: "I am extremely sorry that I cannot do so because I am a dry."

Mrs. Aikin said Mrs. Roosevelt expressed similar sentiments at a fair a year ago, declining a similar invitation.

DECORATIONS FOR PROM ANNOUNCED; BRYSON TO PLAY

Japanese Lanterns, Streamers Will Add Color to Dance; Patrons, Patronesses Named

Decorations for the second annual summer prom, to be held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. Thursday at Robeson Roof were announced yesterday by the committee in charge of the affair. Clay Bryson and his orchestra, just completing an engagement at the Blackhawk restaurant, Chicago, will furnish music for the affair.

Japanese lanterns of various shades, and streamers will add color to the dance. The affair will be summer formal, and tickets are selling for $1.65.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance are:

President Chase and Mrs. Chase, Prof. E. H. Cameron and Mrs. Cameron, Dean Benner and Mrs. Benner, Prof. John W. Albright and Mrs. Albright, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Browne, Miss Lucille Critchlow, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cunningham, Eugene Dailey, Dean Daniels and Mrs. Daniels, Dr. Burrows Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Dolan, Dr. Louise Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Edwards, Mr. L. F. Fitzgerald.

CALL UPON SCIENCE TO DISPEL MYSTERY DEATH

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — Science was called upon tonight to dispel superstition in the mystery death of George Carl, grocer, whose death was foretold three days in advance by a fortune teller.

Police discovered a .38 caliber revolver in a drawer at the Carl home and they expressed hope it was the missing death weapon. Carl was found dead, two .38 caliber bullets in his head, in living quarters at the rear of his store Saturday night.

RECEIVES MILITARY HONORS

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — Full military honors were accorded the Rev. N. B. Clinch, 68, Episcopal pastor, at funeral services for him here today. He spent two years in France as chaplain for the 33rd division during the World war. Massed colors from 27 American Legion posts headed a mile long funeral parade, state and national leaders of the legion were present.

STOCKHOLDERS SELECT SEVEN FOR COMMITTEE

Name Men to Choose Five to Make Application for Charter of New Bank

Through a motion entertained by Dr. David Kinley, president emeritus of the University, and passed without dissent, the stockholders of the First National bank, Champaign, last night decided to select a committee of seven to choose the five stockholders who will make application for a new national bank charter to the comptroller in Washington, D. C.

The seven men, unanimously selected by nominations from the floor, are:

Walter B. Riley, Judge Sveinbjorn Johnson, Dr. Kinley, Harry T. Willis, John B. Prettyman, Ray C. Sparks, and Harry J. Millard.

Community Affair

C. A. Petry, acting as chairman in the absence of George Huff, called the meeting of the stockholders to order at the Methodist Episcopal church, Champaign.

He emphasized the fact that the selection of the applicants for a charter was not a legal procedure insofar as calling a meeting of the stockholders was concerned, but that the committee in charge had decided that it would be to the best interests to have the interested parties take a part in the selection. He stated that it was a community affair as there are now approximately 900 owners in the proposed bank.

Mr. Petry explained the type of bank that was desired when the new institution is opened. He said that everyone concerned wanted a real, secure, and worthwhile bank. He further stated that the conditions under which the new institution is to be organized and set up cannot be explained until more complete explanation is secured from the comptroller.

The chairman introduced John B. Prettyman who in turn declared that he wished the stockholders to have (Continued on Page Two)

CURTIS, LINDBERGH HOAXER, RELEASED

Bail Bond Secures Freedom; Expect Appeal Proceedings; Returns Home

FLEMINGTON, N. J., July 18. — (AP) — Released on bail, John Hughes Curtis, Lindbergh case hoaxer, was free of his jail cell tonight for the first time since his arrest in May. He was believed to be on his way to his home in Norfolk, Va.

The bulky ship-builder, who was sentenced last Monday to a year in prison and a $10,000 fine for hindering capture of the Lindbergh baby kidnappers, was elated at his sudden freedom.

He was admitted to bail of $10,000, after a secret hearing before Judge Adam O. Robbins, who sat at the trial and passed sentence.

The bail bond signed by the court today is returnable October 3 in supreme court. Appeal proceedings are expected here, though lawyers for the Norfolk man declined to state definite plans.

Curtis was arrested less than a week after the body of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., was found May 12 half-buried in a shallow grave on a hillside five miles from the Lindbergh home at Hopewell.

His arrest followed upon an amazing confession that his stories of dealings with a desperate kidnapping band were fabric of his imagination. He repudiated this later, but was convicted on a charge of obstructing justice.

SMEDLEY BUTLER WILL MINGLE WITH VETERANS

NEWTOWN SQUARE, Pa., July 18. — (AP) — Major General Smedley Darlington Butler, U. S. M. C., retired, is going to mingle with the boys in the bonus army at Washington tomorrow night.

He told the Associated Press today that he had been invited by Commander Walter W. Waters to meet the boys, give them a talk and spend the night in camp.

"I'm going to do it," said the retired marine general. "I love the boys who were in the service."

Thomas Arkle Clark, Former Dean of Men, Dies; Funeral Services Will Be Tomorrow

President Chase, Dean Turner, Dean Harno, G. Herbert Smith Pay Tribute to Educator

"The death of Dean Thomas Arkle Clark brings to a close a career which has been devoted unselfishly for many years to the welfare of the students of the University of Illinois," President Chase said yesterday concerning the death of the former dean.

"Dean Clark was the first dean of men in the country. He was a pioneer in the development of an office which has come to have an immense significance in American education. No one could watch him at work without being amazed at his resourcefulness, his keen knowledge of human nature, his passionate desire for moral up-building of youth, and his literally tireless devotion to his work."

Mourns His Passing

"I think, as I review my all too brief association with him, that what came to stand out in my mind was the humanity of the man. I mean that he was the sort of a person whom one came to regard not only with admiration and esteem but with personal affection."

"The University mourns his passing. It can best meet, I think, the obligation which it owes to him by trying to carry forward his work for the ideals for which he stood during his long life of service and devotion to his Alma Mater."

Dr. Fred H. Turner, who succeeded Dean Clark to the office of dean of men and who for many years has been his constant companion and friend, said:

Leaves a Vacancy

"It is difficult for me to make an adequate statement in regard to Dean Clark. As the founder of the office of the dean of men, he originated a type of collegiate administrative work which has grown to nationwide scope. Perhaps the work would have developed but there can be no doubt that Dean Clark was responsible for most of its growth. Although he had retired from active service, his opinions and ideas were eagerly sought. His passing leaves a vacancy in the ranks of deans of men which will never be filled."

"Dean Clark was a noble spirit," Dean Harno of the College of Law, provost of the University, and president of the Urbana Rotary club of which Dean Clark was an active member, formerly serving as president of the organization, said.

'Highly Intelligent'

"He was one of the greatest and finest men I have known, and I feel a deep sense of personal loss in his passing. He had probed the depths of human nature far beyond other men. He was sympathetic, kind, tolerant, and helpful to all who had problems to solve. He was highly intelligent and a loyal friend, and above all he had an abiding sense of humor."

"In his work he was a great pioneer, and his memory will live and continue to live in the hearts of the thousands of young men who have passed through his door. The University, the community, and the state has lost one of their greatest figures. He was my adviser and friend."

Monument to Him

G. Herbert Smith, assistant dean of men and national secretary of Phi Eta Sigma, of which Dean Clark served for many years as national president, said:

Among his many other interests Dean Clark was founder and national president of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society. This organization was truly representative of the genius of the man. He realized (Continued on Page Two)

THOMAS ARKLE CLARK

Some of His Beliefs

Dean Clark was nationally known for his wisdom. On January 12, 1927, he was given a testimonial dinner in honor of his twenty-fifth anniversary as dean of men. Appreciation of the Dean's work, his friendship, his service and counsel, and his unique, distinctive place among educators of his generation was expressed at the affair. Below are a few of the expressions of praise given him then, together with some of the Dean's beliefs and statements.

"We express ourselves from the heart and intend this dinner only as a modest honor for his completion of 25 years of remarkable service in a unique position," Prof. J. W. Garner, head of the department of political science, said.

"A fraternity can be famous and highly respected for its social finesse but visitors at fraternity houses usually form impressions of the organization by the courtesies and manners of the members," the dean has said.

"I think of the dean as the best God-send that we could have. He teaches the boys that they must conduct themselves as gentlemen of good-breeding and that they cannot burn the candle at both ends," M. M. Olander declared.

"If students were not permitted to engage in worthwhile activities they would be sure to indulge in something far worse," he said one day.

"Freshmen are mimics and they are more apt to follow examples than to do what they are told," he once said. "If you set a good example for them they will adopt them. They like to do what the 'big' boys are doing."

OBSERVATORY TICKETS TO BE AVAILABLE TOMORROW

Tickets for the Observatory open house Wednesday night will not be available until Wednesday morning at the bursar's office according to Prof. J. E. Merrill, director of the Observatory.

If the atmosphere is clear the telescope will be turned on Saturn. Should the weather be inclement, Prof. Merrill will give an illustrated talk.

Chicago Finds Conventions Are Profitable

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — The profits from playing host to political conventions, Chicago will tell you, are considerable.

Business men who dug deep into their pockets for funds to bring the Republican and Democratic conventions to Chicago reported today that original outlays were in many cases returned to fold.

Even the political parties themselves were guaranteed a satisfactory financial outcome by Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Chicago citizens' committee which led the way in bringing the conventions here.

"Merchants, hotel proprietors, taxicab companies—the firms that pledged contributions to the convention funds," Hurley said, "are full-filling their guarantees 98 per cent. That means both parties will get all the money we promised, and most of it already is paid."

Representative of the reaction of big business was a statement from the Congress hotel, convention headquarters for both parties.

"Our business during the conventions," the statement said, "was the best in the 30 years of the hotel's existence. The hotel was filled to capacity and hundreds of guests were turned away."

Reports from the city's two largest taxicab companies, which guaranteed a total of $12,000 to the citizens' committee fund, were even more prosperous. One of the companies estimated its extra revenue at (Continued on Page Two)

Noted Educator Served University 38 Years; Rev. Gardner to Be in Charge of Services

The dean of deans is dead. Dr. Thomas Arkle Clark, who for 38 years served the University, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, 1110 West Illinois street, Urbana. He was 70 years of age, having passed his last birth mark May 11. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. J. H. Gardner, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Urbana, will be in charge of the services. Arrangements have not as yet been completed.

Founded Phi Eta Sigma

Dean Clark ended his active service with the University August 31, 1931, when he was succeeded by Dr. Fred H. Turner. At the time of his death he was president of Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity for freshmen, which he founded here in 1922, and was scholarship commissioner and member of the executive committee of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

The noted educator has been ill the past two years. In 1930 he entered the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, where he underwent an operation. He returned to his desk in the dean of men's office the next spring, and remained there until August 1 of that year, when he was retired. Last March he again entered the Chicago hospital, after which he was brought to the McKinley hospital, Urbana, remaining there for a short time before being returned to his home. He was able to be about his home until about three weeks ago.

Founded Office

Dean Clark was the founder of his office, and besides building up the office to one of great importance, he, more than any other man, is credited by many with building up the department of English. He taught, at one time or another, most of the courses now offered by the department.

Two years ago he reached the retiring age of 68, but because it was not desirable to make a change in that office at the beginning of a new general administration of the University, he continued in office for one year, the first served by President Chase.

He was best known for his creation of the field of student administration of student affairs. He was at all times the counselor of young men. In this capacity he has scarcely been surpassed by any person, either living or dead. He earned a reputation as one of the greatest deans and educators of America, and enjoyed the admiration and friendship of the foremost men of the United States.

Editor of Illini

From 1887 to 1889 Dean Clark gained such a reputation as a journalist that in 1889 he was chosen editor-in-chief of The Illini. He knew more men personally than perhaps any other campus personality. He was known to thousands of students and former students as "Tommy Arkle," and "T. A." When the students adopted a fad, "Tommy Arkle" also adopted a fad. "Tommy Arkle" was campus talk. He went about the campus hatless, his loose white hair rumpled—a tall, slender figure who greeted almost every person he met by his first name.

Thomas Arkle Clark, whose family name was Metcalf, was born on a farm near Minonk, Ill., in 1862. He adopted the name of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, who reared him. His father, William Metcalf, died September 11, 1882, and his mother, Mary Arkle Metcalf, died August 7, 1862. Working his way through the University academy and the University, where he was graduated in 1890, he became an instructor in the University academy a year later, and advanced to the University faculty staff in 1893.

Became Professor

He became a full professor in 1898, and served in that position until students was so marked that he was made dean of men in 1909. His understanding of collegiate psychology his stubborn persistence and his generous fund of optimism and good humor fitted him ideally for the position.

Thousands of Illini students had personal problems of all kinds settled by him. During his term of office, Dean Clark had hundreds of daily callers, the average for one day during his last year of service being 354.

Became Popular

As a freshman in the University, Dean Clark was about five years older than most of his fellows, but he was companionable, and became popular with other students.

When, in 1890, he was graduated from the University, he carried away many honors. He had been for two years local editor of The Illini, junior orator in 1889, senior orator the following year, editor of the Sophomore, later succeeded by the Illio, class poet, and editor-in-chief of the student paper.

He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Beta Kappa, Philomathean Literary society, and the University senior honorary society, then Shield and Trident, and known now as Ma-Wan-Da.

Taught Grade School

After his graduation he taught for a year in a Champaign grade school. "I treated the pupils gently for one week," he once said. "Then they got beyond my control, and I gave one of them a licking. They were respectful ever after."

After two years spent as instructor of English and Latin in the academy, he became instructor of English at the University proper, and with that department he has had intimate connections ever since. His rise in the department was rapid. In 1895 he became assistant professor of rhetoric; in 1899, full professor. The year 1898-99 was spent in study at Harvard.

Aided Dean Kinley

During the absence of Dean David Kinley from the deanship of the College of Literature and Arts, from 1900 to 1901, Dean Clark temporarily filled the position. When Dean Kinley returned, President Draper desired to make more active use of Clark's ability with students, and he finally determined to create the office of dean of undergraduate students and assistant to the president. For three years Dean Clark filled this novel position, working out the possibilities of the station with sure and tactful hand.

Aside from these duties he was director of the summer session in the five years from 1903 to 1908. In 1901 his title had been changed to dean of undergraduates, and again in 1909 it was altered, this time to dean of men, a position he held until last year.

New Position

The position of dean of men was entirely new. Dean Clark was the first to have any such title, and every detail of his relationship to students, which have been so vividly copied as state institutions have doubled and tripled in attendance, was the result of shrewd knowledge of human nature and the fine tact with which he arranged his relations to students.

Dean Clark believed that the average student was immature enough that he needed considerable looking-after of the right sort. He became the friend of thousands of students. He knew thousands by name, and knew, after twenty years, sometimes, all their idiosyncrasies. He visited them in their rooming or fraternity houses, gave talks, chaperoned many dances, attended others. Visited the sick every day, and welcomed men to his office to talk over problems they were facing.

Disciplinary Officer

On the other hand, he was disciplinary officer for the University. His office force handled attendance records for all University men. He dealt with crimes, misdemeanors, and sins of every description. Amid all the unpleasantness of such duties he earned a just reputation for square dealing, that was not dimmed by occasional unfortunates who were held to strict accountability, and who resented it.

Prof. Franklin W. Scott, a former associate and great friend of the dean, has said of him: "Dean Clark was the man who foresaw, perhaps more clearly than anyone else, the problem of the immature undergraduate in the large and growing institution."

Energetic

And he testified, at another time, to the energy with which Dean Clark followed out his solution to that problem in these words:

"Nobody goes to more dances and dinners, as well as funerals and faculty meetings, than he. He will manage to get around to a smoker, a meeting of church deacons, an operation on an undergraduate in the hospital, a dance, and a theatrical rehearsal in an evening, and be dictating letters at eight the next morning."

In 1918 he became military adjutant of the University and in 1919 he was conferred the highest honor in his fraternity, that of becoming its worthy grand chief, and in 1922 the position of educational adviser to the interfraternity conference was created for him.

For years Dean Clark regularly contributed a short essay on a topic of interest to students to The Daily tario province were mentioned in the treaty, disposition of the power being referred to as domestic matters to be settled within the two nations. President Hoover, in his statement, said revenue from the disposal of the power was counted upon to offset much of the American cost of the whole project.

The treaty provides that no water shall be diverted from the Great Lakes except that taken by Chicago, and that this amount shall be limited to that stipulated by the decree of the United States supreme court on April 21, 1930. In this connection, President Hoover gave out a letter from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as acting secretary of war, stating that the treaty terms provided sufficiently for maintenance of the nine-foot waterway from Chicago to the Mississippi.

May Authorize Increase

However, a provision in the treaty provides that in case of emergency an increase in the withdrawal may be authorized temporarily by a tribunal made up of one representative of Canada, one for the United States, and a chairman to be named jointly by both countries.

It was President Hoover who estimated the project would take 10 years to complete, revising purely engineering estimates of seven or eight years. He pointed out that during this time "normal growth of traffic in the nation will far more than compensate for any diversion from American railroads and other American port facilities."

Less expenditures already made by this country which are credited in the treaty, he calculated that the United States share will be only $258,000,000, to be further reduced by revenues from power disposal.

The recommendation of the joint board of engineers, representing the two nations, upon which the treaty was based, are to be made public in detail within a few days.

Illini once a week, known as "The Sunday Eight O'clock." A collection of them was published in book form in 1917.

Dean Clark's intimate knowledge of fraternity affairs has been preserved in two volumes, "The Fraternity and the College" and "The Fraternity and the Undergraduate." Other volumes which he has written and published more recently are: "When You Write a Letter," and "The Busy Undergraduate." Besides these volumes he has written many magazine articles and has delivered thousands of speeches.

Administrator of Funds

As administrator of the student loan funds he has often been confronted with actual cases of need in the face of absolutely depleted funds. In such cases he has been known to quietly reach down in his own pocket for the necessary amount.

What would have happened to the undergraduate at Illinois had not some such man arisen to better their conditions, assure them justice and sympathy, and to give now and then a bit of fatherly advice, is difficult to imagine.

It was this difficult task to which Thomas Arkle Clark dedicated his life, and in which he has come to be recognized as one of the leading educators of the country.

Leaves Widow

Dean Clark leaves his widow, Alice Virginia Broadus Clark, whom he married in 1896. H. S. Dawson, graduate student, Cicero, is a grand nephew, while Leslie Clark, Racine, Wis., is a nephew and his two sons, W. P. Clark, who will be a senior in the University next year, and Thomas Arkle Clark II, are grand nephews.

PROF. NICKOLEY PRESENTS LECTURE

oil is pressed in the same stone rolls that were used in Biblical days," he continued.

To offset the lack of balance between production and consumption, there is the western tourist who in normal times, leaves hundreds of thousands of dollars in the country and there is the emigrant who sends money home from his western occupations.

During the last quarter century, the polygamies marriage and the child-marriages have been largely overturned by a changing social order. Freedom in choosing mates has broken up the old tribal or clan properties and made for individual enterprise and thence more efficient production. The Moslem practice of polygamy was outlawed by Mustafa Kemal and Professor Nickoley predicts that it will entirely disappear within the next 10 years.

"Educational development has been brought to the near east largely through foreign missionaries. Over a century ago, Catholic, Protestant, and Greek orthodox schools were established for the education of the boys. At the present time every type of professional school may be found here and many of them are being controlled and taught by native teachers," Prof. Nickoley declared.

When it was found that girls were unfit to marry the educated young men, a certificate of graduate became more important than a dowry. The children from this new type of home show great social and cultural progress—opening the way for a new and quickly changing era.

Now Moslem women, closely veiled, attend the universities in the cities of the near east. Dr. Nickoley explained that as soon as they enter the campus the headscarves, with its attendant veil, is chucked into the locker and the women are as free as the American co-ed is on the campus of her alma mater.

Turkey has obtained her political independence. Although she is the first and only one to advance this far the others will probably follow soon, in Dr. Nickoley's opinion.

"It is mostly by trade, commerce, travel, and education that the near east has learned the ways of the west. The old story teller has gone, in his place is the newspaper. As soon as these countries learn to work as well as live after the fashion of the west, they will have attained their ideal of regaining their own among the highest cultures of the world," he concluded.

full knowledge of the conditions pertaining to the new bank. He stated that many necessary steps have already been taken in the re-opening program. According to his report three major steps have been worked upon. They are the depositors agreement, stock subscriptions, and the obtaining of sufficient agreements to match liabilities and assets dollar for dollar.

In regard to assets Mr. Prettyman declared the committee in charge had decided there were sufficient assets to open a new bank, but changes in conditions since the first assumption have made it impossible to ascertain just what condition will exist in the new bank. However, he emphatically stated that it is certain all assets in the new institution will be first class.

Receivers Approval

Thus far the work has received the approval of the examiner and the receiver and it is certain that the comptroller in Washington, D. C. will give his approval to the reorganization. Mr. Prettyman further stated that it was his opinion that the bank will be set up safe, strong, and will be able to meet arising emergencies.

According to word from the comptroller the selection of the five stockholders to apply for a charter is important. As qualifications the comptroller stated the applicants should have financial ability, a proportionate amount of shares of stock and should be located in the vicinity of the bank.

Powers Bound

Mr. Riley, newly elected member of the committee to choose the applicants, emphasized the fact that the five selected will act only for application and not in choosing the directors or officers.

Chairman Petry informed the stockholders that 25 unsigned waivers remained which must be signed before the bank can re-open. Because of the limited amount of time it was thought best to proceed with the selection, but the additional signatures must be secured.

Upon the suggestion of the executive committee the stockholders voted to have 11 directors in the new bank. When the time arrives for voting on the directors ballots will be sent to stockholders.

Third Degree Confession Has New Opponents

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—A rising tide of legal sentiment against "third degree" confessions, because "they defeat their own ends," was seen today by Robert Daru, former assistant district attorney here and counsel to a bar association committee investigating "third degree" methods.

The most effective way to get rid of them, he suggested, would be to make police-obtained confessions inadmissible as court evidence. Most states already have laws restricting the use of confessions in evidence, he said, all aimed at abolishing cruelty in obtaining them.

Speaks as Individual

"Whether or not the third degree exists in a police system," he said, "I am convinced the public believes it does. This makes jurors skeptical of any evidence a policeman gives in court."

Daru made it plain he spoke as an individual, and not as counsel to the committee composed of board members of the New York County Criminal Courts Bar association, organized about three months ago.

Their investigation is one of several launched since the public disclosures last August in the Wickenscham report of "lawlessness in law enforcement."

A preliminary report Daru is scheduled to make to his committee tomorrow he will ask to have postponed because of the current Stark case at Mineola.

Attends Hearing

A committee representative is attending the hearings here. Daru is desirous of including this case in his report, but he also wishes to avoid possibility of a charge the report was made public when public sentiment was inflamed.

In spite of the report of the Wickenscham commission that "the third degree is widely and brutally employed in New York City," Daru said he is convinced its extent is not nearly so great as generally is supposed.

Tales to cause shudders, sleeping out through ways of prisons and jails, were being recalled as feeling mounted in the case of Hyman Stark, who strangled to death with a broken larynx, according to an autopsy report, after undergoing "questioning" concerning an attack on a detective's mother.

The most recent public mention of the "third degree" has been in cases arising from the Lindbergh kidnapping inquiry.

BARGAIN FOR SURRENDER

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker disclosed tonight that overtures had been made to him to bargain for the surrender of James "Fur" Sammons, freed public enemy, wanted in Baltimore in connection with $47,000 payroll robbery in 1926.

POLITICAL PARTIES ETCH MAIN ISSUES AS FIGHT STARTS

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—Democrats and Republicans high in their parties etched sharply today the issues they are carrying to the voters in the struggle to elect a president and control the federal government.

Speaker Garner, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, made his return to Texas a triumphal tour combined with electioneering utterances from the back platform of his train.

Garner Talks

The keynote of his talks to the Texans was that power of government should be taken away from those who administer it "for the benefit of a privileged few," and turned over to the Democrats to be administered for "the American people as a whole."

Representative Snell, the House Republican leader, and permanent chairman of the convention which renominated President Hoover, answered Democratic fault finding with the President's leadership by asserting the chief executive sponsored all constructive legislation enacted during the session of Congress just ended and should receive full credit.

Watson Strikes Back

Similarly, Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader of his chamber, struck back at Democratic statements of credit on the Congressional achievements.

Watson, also proclaiming Mr. Hoover as the source of origin of the major enactments of Congress, said: "These and other instances of positive leadership by the President may be cited, leadership that can be contrasted with a complete absence of any program or even plan by the Democrats to aid the country."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential choice, homebound from a vacation cruise off New England, moved for harmony within his party by consulting in Massachusetts with leaders who had backed Alfred E. Smith. There was no immediate tangible result, but Roosevelt was told he had good chances of carrying Massachusetts.

Lives Up to Pledge

President Hoover, resting at his Rapidan, Virginia mountain camp, said in a statement that signing of the St. Lawrence treaty completed a pledge he had made to the mid-west four years ago.

Senator Dickinson of Iowa, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, opened headquarters in Chicago with the assertion that his party would campaign with an appeal to "common sense."

He expected, he said, forty to forty-five million votes to be cast in November, on the strength of a greater interest in the presidential contest than has been shown since 1896.

Borah Will Attend

Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), added another angle to the political situation when he said, in reply to questions, he would attend the official notification ceremonies at the White House if invited.

Borah's colleagues have been wondering in view of his voicing the administration attitude on war debts last week whether he was about to get back on the Hoover bandwagon, despite his rejection of the Republican party platform.

Virtual Embargo on Corn, Grain, Seeds Reaches Agreement

KANSAS CITY, July 18.—(AP)—A virtual embargo on corn and various grains and seeds originating in 13 Eastern and Northern states was agreed upon today by officials of several corn belt states as a measure to combat the westward advance of the European corn borer.

Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, and Missouri were represented at a meeting here, called by Dr. K. C. Sullivan, Missouri plant commissioner, to plan the fight against the insect pest, which has approached to within fourteen miles of the Illinois border.

Messages promising co-operation were received from Colorado, Nebraska, Texas, Arkansas, and Minnesota.

METHODIST SOCIETY PLANS LAWN PICNIC

The last summer meeting of Wheel 2, First Methodist church, Champaign, will be a family picnic held tonight on the lawn of the home of Mrs. C. H. Nogle, 502 West Healey street, Champaign.

A picnic supper will be served at 6 o'clock. The Rev. H. Clifford Northcott, pastor of the church, Mrs. Northcott, and Melvin Nogle of Urbana are to be guests.

Mrs. Nogle will be assisted by Mrs. C. S. Davis, Mrs. Henry Mayes, Mrs. A. E. Wood, Mrs. O. B. Parkhill, and Mrs. H. I. Nelson. This is the last meeting until September 6.

CURB DRIFTS

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—The curb market couldn't get its bearings at the start of the new week, and drifted about to the quiet tune of extremely light trading.

STOCKS ARE LISTLESS

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—Although relieved of worries over Congress, the stock market found it hard to be cheerful today and sagged slowly through a listless session.

Chicago Finds Conventions Are Profitable

$72,000 and the other's was about the same.

Downtown department stores and smaller hotels outside the loop expressed slight dissatisfaction, but managers of most of them said, "we probably got our share."

"Our business fell off during the actual conventions," said the head of one large department store, "but business was good just before and just after the conventions. Anyway, Chicago made a lot of friends and lots of the visitors are sure to come back."

Hurley was emphatic in denying reports that Chicago would be unable to make good its guarantee to defray expenses of the conventions.

"We agreed to pay the Republicans' expenditures up to $150,000," he said, "Already, $110,000 has been paid and bookkeepers are figuring out how much more we owe."

COMMON SENSE WILL BE APPEAL

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—A Republican Senatorial campaign in which common sense will be the major appeal and prohibition the principle issue was promised tonight by Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa.

The keynote of the National Republican convention arrived here today to begin preliminary work in electing senators from twelve central states. Senator Dickinson is chairman of the Senatorial committee which will direct the senatorial campaign in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Kentucky, and the Dakotas.

Prohibition will be the main issue in many states, Senator Dickinson said, predicting that the campaign will be an "argumentative one."

"Among other questions," he said, "will be those of sound money inflation and adequate tariff protection. The people are more interested in politics this year than they have been and we look for a record vote."

"We're going to concentrate on the senatorial fights. Where the senator is stronger in his state than the president, we'll expect him to carry the whole ticket, and vice versa."

The campaign, which Senator Dickinson said "would be marked by the absence of the fan-fare, the demonstrations and the 'torch light parades,' of earlier years, will get under way August 1.

MARY FERNHÖLZ, STANLEY SWANSON ARE MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fernholz, Harvard, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary '32, and Stanley S. Swanson ex-'32, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Swanson, 1022 West 79th street, Chicago. The ceremony was read November 28, 1931, in Chicago.

Mrs. Swanson graduated with the class of 1932 from the School of Journalism. She is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi and Theta Sigma Phi, and during her freshman and sophomore years, was a member of the editorial staff of The Daily Illini. Swanson is a member of Kappa Delta Rho. At present he is employed as a ventilator salesman in Grand Junction, Mich., where they are now making their home.

ORIOLE CLUB ENTERTAINS GUESTS AT LAWN PICNIC

Members of the Oriole club held a picnic yesterday afternoon at Crystal Lake park. Miss Phoebe Heady, a club member who is to be absent for a month's tour of the West, was the guest of honor. Her mother, Mrs. Charles Hix of Dietrich, was also a special guest and her birthday was celebrated at the picnic. The crowd of 25 people gathered at 4 o'clock at the park and dinner was served at 5:30 o'clock. The after-dinner hours were spent socially.

GOVERNMENT OUT TO EXTERMINATE CAPONE'S REALM

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—The Herald and Examiner says the federal government has started a far reaching campaign to drive the remnants of Al Capone's liquor syndicate out of business.

At least 200 Chicago gangsters, including Al and Ralph Capone, both now in federal prisons for income tax evasion, probably will be prosecuted, the newspaper said. New indictments were predicted by the paper to supercede 68 returned a year ago against Capone gangsters.

Make Report

Federal authorities in Chicago refused to comment on the matter except to say that a report had been sent to Washington concerning investigations to date.

"We have made a report of about 100 pages," said Assistant United States District Attorney Daniel Anderson. "The report will have to be made public in Washington, either in the prohibition bureau or the attorney general's office."

Since Al Capone departed for Atlanta penitentiary, his gigantic liquor operations—estimated to total $10,000,000 a year from 1921 to 1931—are reported to have been taken into the hands of a dozen or more of his followers. The syndicate, local and federal officials believe, is being directed by the former underlings, although disorganizations in the ranks has resulted in smaller rings developing in some of the down states where Capone formerly controlled a monopoly.

Next on List

Among the gangsters which the Herald and Examiner predicted would be prosecuted in addition to the Capones, are Joe Fusco, said to have been left in charge of Chicago beer by Al Capone; Sam and Harry Guskis, brothers of the more notorious Jack Guskis; Michael R. (Bon Bon) Allegretti, former gambling boss for Capone; Sam Hunt, often arrested; "Golf Bag Gunman"; Bobby Barton, former chauffeur for Jack Guskis, and Frank Juffra, purported proprietor of a chain of speakeasies.

URBANA ALDERMEN APPROVE REDUCED MUNICIPAL BUDGET

Appropriations for Coming Year 15.2 Per Cent Less Than Current Annual Costs

Urbana's municipal appropriations for the year starting August 1 will be 15.2 per cent less than for the current year as a result of action last night by the city council.

The budget as submitted by the finance committee and approved by the council shows a total of $77,500 in receipts and expenditures. The total of appropriations a year ago was $91,200.

To effect this substantial decrease in estimated expenses, the members of the finance committee were forced to pare every item to the limit.

Scovill Finds Errors Through an error in calculation, the budget as adopted last night will be $1,180 short in the salary item alone. This discovery was made by Prof. H. T. Scovill, head of the department of business organization and operation, who attended the meeting. Prof. Scovill, for 10 years past until this retirement this spring, was a council member. As head of the finance committee, he prepared numerous budgets for the city.

Prof. Scovill's comment on the proposed budget was that it was too low for the city to live within. He pointed out the error in estimating salaries, which are fixed items, and also predicted that the allowance for costs of collecting taxes was at least $500 low. A $500 deficiency in the estimate for election expense was another observation of Prof. Scovill.

Expect $69,600 in Taxes The revenue as estimated in the budget approved last night comes from taxes totaling $69,600, based on an estimated assessed valuation of $8,000,000. This total value allows for a cut of $360,000 from this year's figures.

Because the basis for real estate values was altered last year and no such change is anticipated at this time, the estimated reduction in valuation is considered adequate.

Collection costs are estimated at $2,600, which is less than 4 per cent. In addressing the council on this item, Prof. Scovill said that this year's costs were about 4 1/2 per cent, and that the percentage next year surely would be as great.

Expenditures Listed Other items of estimated revenue are: building permits, $400; fire department 2 per cent insurance tax, $900; electrical inspection, $300; fines and costs, $4,600; licenses and miscellaneous, $3,000; interest on bank balances, $800, and Illinois Power and Light company note, $500.

The expenditures provided are as follows: streets and alleys, $10,000; sewer and drainage, $1,600; fire department, $16,600; 2 per cent insurance tax, $900; water hydrant rental, $8,700; lights, $10,500; police and traffic, $15,000; buildings and grounds, $750; salaries, $7,100; printing and miscellaneous, $400; elections, $800; health, $900; interest, $1,500; auditing, $100; surety bond of treasurer, $450; insurance of city employees, $900; and contingent fund, $1,000.

Hackett Submits Report These figures were contained in the report of the finance committee as presented by Chairman Hackett. The council voted unanimously to instruct the corporation counsel to prepare an ordinance in accordance with the committee's report. This ordinance will be considered at the next council session, August 1.

Other matters considered included the reported rejection of an advertising scheme by the purchases and printing committee, delay until the next meeting of action on efforts of Champaign and Urbana to coordinate their licensing systems and secure greater uniformity of fees and regulations, and action to abate nuisances reported.

No New License Fees The council voted to make no changes in the present license chapter of the city code. Alderman McLarty submitted a special report in which he pointed out the need of revising this code, but the council felt that the expense was too great to be borne at this time. Possibility of collecting some no obsolete license fees or of adding new licenses was considered, but this idea was strongly opposed by several aldermen and R. E. Winkelmann, corporation counsel.

R. F. C. CONTINUES ORDINARY LOANS

Leave Relief Bill Possibilities Until Today for Action

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation today went serenely about its business of considering bank, railroad and industrial loans, leaving for tomorrow—or later—the problems created by the relief bill which hurried through Congress at the last minute.

The only break in the monotony of figures showing needs of sundry banks and railroads came when William H. Sexton, corporation counsel of Chicago, and DeWitt Billman, right hand man of Governor Emmerson of Illinois, briefly discussed with the corporation's directors the relief situation in Illinois.

Expect Signature President Hoover is expected to attach his signature tomorrow to the relief bill. Pending this, there was no authoritative word on the impending re-organization of the board. The measure provides that the secretary of the treasury and "six persons appointed by the president" within 10 days after enactment shall constitute the board of the corporation.

The relief bill creates a fund of $300,000,000 to be loaned to the states and territories for direct relief of destitution. No one state can obtain more than $45,000,000 for this purpose.

It also provides for loans to states and municipalities to aid in financing public works and for construction of toll bridges and for loans to corporations formed for lending money for building homes and to corporations constructing certain types of projects.

Seek Money Illinois representatives are in Washington to seek money to keep open relief stations throughout their state. After their brief conference with the directorate Sexton and Billman got in touch with Governor Emmerson by telephone and outlined to him the form of application. The requests for loans must come from governors.

"We are here solely in our capacity as members of the Illinois commission on relief," Sexton said. "We are not in position to make any expression as to the amount needed or to file any application. That is entirely up to the governor."

"Cook county will have to close its relief stations Friday unless we get immediate help. Other sections of the state are in a similar situation."

Old Times Appear As Famous Capone Name is on Blotter

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—The name of Capone decorated the police blotter here tonight as authorities held Johnny (Mibs) Capone, 29, brother of the more famous Alphonse, and his bodyguard, Rocco Senna, 19, for questioning in connection with the recent machine gun slaying of George (Red) Barker, Capone mobster and labor racketeer.

The pair was apprehended by detectives this afternoon and were viewed by witnesses of the Barker slaying. They ran for their automobile as detectives appeared but quick footwork by the officers prevented their escape.

Underworld gossip said Barker was "rubbed out" because he aspired to the crown of the underworld kingdom ruled by Al Capone before the gang overlord ran afoul income tax laws and was sentenced to serve a term at the Atlanta, Ga., federal prison where he now is an inmate.

Hogs Decline CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Curtailed receipts failed to check a sharp decline in hog prices today and the market dropped 10-20 cents from last Friday's average prices. Back pressure, exerted by the accumulation of fresh pork during the heat wave, was blamed for skidding prices. Eastern demand for pork was neither broad nor brisk. The top fell to $5.55.

General receipts of cattle were liberal with steers predominating. Most of the run was held unsold as prices persisted in hanging around 25 cents below Friday.

Producers checked the decline in sheep and lambs by slowing the marketward movement. Most sales were strong and in spots were a shade higher.

Wheat Hits Low

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Wheat today duplicated its all-time low price record, 44 1/4 for July contracts, and outdid previous bottom quotations this season for September contracts.

All deliveries of oats and the distant futures of rye went likewise below the season's previous minimum quotations. Unusual slackness of either speculative or export demand for wheat was the chief apparent market influence.

After fluctuating nervously within limits of only 3/4 of a cent a bushel, a range seldom equaled for narrowness, wheat closed irregular, at 1/4 decline to 1/4 advance compared with Saturday's finish, corn 1/2-1 1/4 off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7 cents.

GOVERNOR BEGINS FIGHT

SAUK CITY, Wis., July 18.—(AP)—Flanked on either side by a family wash, rows of shade trees and American flags, Gov. Philip F. LaFollette opened his campaign for re-election today from the front porch of the Alvin E. Von Wald home in Sauk City, where he started his successful run to the governorship two years ago.

MINE WAGE TALK WAITS ON COUNT

Official Referendum Tellers Expect to Work Today

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Wage negotiations between Illinois coal miners and operators were at an impasse tonight pending official count of referendum ballots on the proposed $5 basic daily wage scale. Meager returns today maintained the ratio which thus far has indicated overwhelming repudiation of the wage reduction proposal.

Of 8,113 votes cast by 19 locals in Franklin county, 6,500 were unofficially counted as against the new contract with only 1,613 for it.

Will Begin Count Mine Workers' official tellers in Springfield were preparing to begin a count when sufficient ballots arrive tomorrow. They said complete results would not be known for three or four days.

Neither union officials or operators could be reached for comment on what the next steps would be to reopen Illinois mines. Until some action is assured, negotiations between strip mine operators and members of the United Mine workers will not be resumed. C. F. Hamilton, of the strip conferees, today said an attempt to reach a compromise scale would await action of the shaft miners and operators.

Free Necessity Meanwhile, coal dealers in the state were facing the necessity of buying their winter's coal from the Appalachian fields at higher retail prices. E. J. Wallace, president of the St. Louis Coal club, said that with the home fields inert, dealers must lay in their stock at once.

Presidents of union sub-districts were reported as expecting calls from Springfield in response to requests for wage arbitration. Governor Emmerson, in his last meeting with the joint scale committees of miners and operators, stressed the necessity of arbitration in the event the committees did not agree.

County Clerk Gives Marriage Licenses To Three Couples

Three marriage licenses were issued yesterday by County Clerk Hoggatt to the following applicants:

William Henry Price, East St. Louis, and Cordelia Mary Hanson, Belleville.

Arthur Coleman Hershman and Emma Moore, both of Danville.

Louis Gray, 209 East Washington street, Champaign, and Lucy Jesse Blake, Paris. This couple was married yesterday afternoon by Justice J. J. Reynolds, Urbana.

LABORING MEN ENDORSE FARMERS' BUYING PLAN

DES MOINES, July 18.—(AP)—A farmer's creed of buying what you need when you need it was echoed here tonight by a group of laboring men who met at an informal gathering at the Charles E. Geissinger home.

The meeting was similar to one held recently on a farm near Mitchellville, where a score of farmers agreed to buy what they needed whenever money was available and to foster such purchasing among their neighbors.

CHICAGO POLICE TAKE 4 SUSPECTED ROBBERS

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Four men said to be wanted for robberies in Decatur, South Bend, Ind., and Chicago were arrested today in a south side apartment.

The state's attorney's office announced their names as Roy Jenkins, Alias Roy Fidler, 25, John Staats, 24, Algie Walters, 25, and Chester Burton, 26, all of Chicago.

LOCAL OFFICIALS TAKE 1 MAN PER HOUR FOR RECORD

Twelve are Placed in County Jail During Twelve Hour Period by County Men

Twelve persons were imprisoned in the county jail yesterday in a 12-hour period ending at 5 p. m. Of the dozen, only one has been released, although another prisoner was taken to Danville to face charges there.

Ernest "Getz" Brown is held in default of $5,000 bond on charges of unlawful sale and possession of intoxicating liquor. He and four others were arrested about 3 a. m. yesterday in a sheriff's raid.

Of the others, Pearl Gray has been released under $300 bond on a charge of vagrancy. Her father, Bill Gray, John Trimmer, and Bob Helm all are held in default of the same bond on the same charge.

Five Arrests

These five arrests were made at the Brown residence, over the pool room which Brown operates at 106 East University avenue, Champaign. Members of the raiding party were Sheriff Fred Shoaf and Deputies Elmer Shoaf, Leo Kurt, and Ed Sturdy.

The officers made three separate tours of the house before they discovered a room under the side-walk, accessible only through a hidden door in the basement. In the secret chamber were found 45 gallons of liquor, said to be alcohol, put up in one-gallon cans tied in bundles of five each.

Other liquor confiscated included 18 pints, bearing three different kinds of Canadian whiskey labels. Several cases of empty bottles and a large assortment of labels also were taken.

Go to Jail

The five prisoners were taken to the jail, and were arraigned about 4 p. m. before Justice J. J. Reynolds. He fixed their bonds and continued all the cases 10 days. The defendants had expected to arrange bond, but only Miss Gray was able to do so.

This is the third time Brown has been arrested on liquor charges. At present he is under bond for a federal court appearance in Danville.

Charles Burke, who gave Chicago as his address, was sentenced to the county jail for 30 days for vagrancy by Earl Meenach, Urbana police magistrate. He was arrested by Officers Stephens and Comstock Sunday evening at Green and Race streets. Burke was seated in a restaurant near the police station and when the officers strolled past and looked in, he made a hasty exit through the rear door. His sentence will enable officials to determine whether or not Burke is wanted elsewhere on a more serious charge.

Loses Freedom

Virgil Maier, 601 East Clark street, Champaign, lost his freedom won by a circuit court bond on a burglary charge when he was arrested Sunday charged with petit larceny. This arrest was made early Sunday morning at Hill and Romine streets by three Urbana officers, James Kenneth Winkler was caught at the same time and is held on the same charge.

Maier is under indictment in connection with the burglary of the Seymour State bank last December. His bondsman on this charge surrendered him to authorities after the arrest Sunday, and he will be held unless he can arrange bonds for both charges. He will get an early hearing in county court on the larceny count.

Maier and Winkler are charged with having stolen five quarts of milk at Lincoln avenue and Hill street. The milk belonged to Hudson's dairy and the Urbana Pure Milk company.

Arranges Fine

H. I. Snyder, Champaign, arranged to pay his fine of $18.40 assessed yesterday by Magistrate Meenach for intoxication. As he left the city hall, yesterday, he again was taken into custody, this time by Sheriff Fred Shoaf, who held him in the county jail until Vermillion county officials came after him. He is wanted in Danville on a bad check charge.

Henry Kroesen, Peoria truck driver, is held on a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested following an accident in which his truck ran into a hay rack, damaging both vehicles and injuring the driver of the wagon.

Frank Dunn, Champaign, was also jailed yesterday afternoon, charged with failure to support his children. He will remain in jail until the November county court term unless he pleads guilty or can arrange bond.

Is Held

Ralph Place, held in the Urbana city jail until he had been fined $18.40 for intoxication, was transferred yesterday to the county jail to lay out the fine.

Two men arrested over the week-end by the Urbana police force were fined yesterday in city police court. E. I. Mahannah, Calumet City, paid a $3 fine for parking his car inside the curb on a parking area in front of an East Green street residence.

Richard Miskimen, Hoopeson, was fined the usual $18.40 on an intoxication charge.

BLOWS HEAD OFF

STERLING, July 18.—(AP)—Fred Davis, 65, a salesman, blew off the top of his head with a shotgun in the basement of his home here today. Friends said he had been dispondent.

Car Won't Function After Boy Gobbles Keys For Ignition

ENID, Okla., July 18.—(AP)—"Where," demanded W. R. Rothe, "are the keys to the car?"

"I don't know where I put those keys," replied his 9-year-old son, Charles, "unless I swallowed them."

It developed that Charles had. A physician is keeping tab on the keys with daily x-ray pictures.

Fire Department Is Called for 3 Runs During Busy Day

The Champaign fire department made three runs yesterday to outdoor fires.

The first was a rubbish fire at 10:50 a. m., in the 500 block on North Hickory street. There was no damage done at that point. The second was an oat field on fire about 3 miles north of Bondville. This run to the Lachmeyer estate was made at 12:33 p. m. The damage was not estimated yesterday.

The final run was to extinguish a grass fire in the 500 block on Ridge-way avenue.

ILLINOIS SHIPPERS TO CALL MEETING

Will Discuss St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty on Diversion

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Representatives of Illinois shippers and industries interested in the relation of the St. Lawrence waterways treaty to diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Chicago sanitary canal will be called into conference here soon.

Samuel M. Hastings, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, commenting on the treaty, this afternoon said he would call the conference and stated:

"The total cost of the Illinois waterway which will be completed in October amounts to $97,500,000. Of this, Chicago spent $70,000,000 for construction of the Sanitary canal, which serves the dual purpose of providing sanitation for the city and a connecting link for the waterway. So it is quite essential that, in the interest of health as well as commerce, there should be a sufficient guarantee as to adequate diversion."

"It seems probable that it would be preferable to have avoided any reference to the question of diversion in the treaty. As soon as the views

JUDGE ARMSTRONG HEARS 9 PROBATE CASES IN SESSION

Five Wills are Admitted to Action in County Court; Petitions are Heard

Nine different probate matters were handled yesterday by Judge Armstrong. Five wills were admitted to probate in the course of the day's work.

The will of Ervin J. Rising was admitted upon petition of Ella Rising and Ida Rising, who will serve without bond as executrices. They gave proof and received a decree of heirship.

Elizabeth M. Haettinger will, which was filed yesterday, also was admitted to probate. Her daughter, Theresia M. Haettinger, was named executrix as provided in the will. A decree of heirship was signed after proof was made.

Leaves Money

By this will, Mrs. Haettinger left all money she possessed to the daughter, and directed that the daughter and a son, Anthony J. Haettinger, share all other property.

In the petition for probate, Miss Haettinger estimated personal property at not more than $100 and real estate at not more than $2,000.

Fred S. Bally will serve without bond as executor of the Benedict Mollet will, which was admitted on Mr. Bailey's petition.

Harry B. Boyer, nominated in the will of Henry Karnes Williams to serve as executor, was appointed to that position. He will give $4,000 bond. Proof was made and a decree of heirship granted.

Is Petitioned

Upon petition of Ida Dora Selby, filed June 23, the will of Sam Selby was admitted to probate and she was named executrix, no bond being required. She also was empowered to execute a creditor's agreement regarding a bank deposit.

Elizabeth B. Hamlin was discharged as executrix in the J. Y. Hamlin estate after her final report had been approved by the court.

Benjamin Winchester, executor, was granted permission to extend the payment of certain notes due the Ruby Wilcox estate.

Allen Newlin gave $3,500 bond, with the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland as surety, as administrator of the Elizabeth Roe estate. He was chosen yesterday and letters of administration were issued.

of the association have been developed, they will be transmitted to the senatorial subcommittee headed by Senator William E. Borah."

"Greatest Little Lake in the World"

Many of you have a place where you can go on Saturday afternoon and keep cool until Sunday night—when you wish it were only Saturday night. Although you have to get back to the "old grind" Monday morning, keep your family happy and your mind at ease by telephoning them from home during the week. You'll be repaid the small cost of the call when you hear "the little fellow" saying, "Lo Daddy."

It is our aim to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost

DREAMY-EYED GIRLS
Oh, there are eyes of blue,
And there are brown eyes, too.
There are eyes of every size,
And eyes of every hue.
But I surmise, if you are wise,
You'll be careful of the girl
That has those dreamy eyes.

—Whiskey Bill.
P. S.—This poem might be about Ronalee. Her eyes were dreamy, but now I understand that they are red from weeping.

—W.B.
They all spoke well of you, Jeremiah.

Dear Scout:
The following is a copy of an authentic document which two of our number drew up as a fifty-cent bet yesterday noon in Hanley's. There are only four weeks of summer school left, so I advise her to hurry. The bet is for a PARTICULAR pin, too.

"I, E. J., being crazy in mind and unstable in constitution, do on this day, Monday, July 18, in the year of Depression number 3, do instantly wager that on or before August 13, of this immoral year, will be displaying over my cardium the symbol of the affection, lunaticism, or intoxication of a Greek brethern.

"I do here to set my hand in seal.
Signed E. J.
Her Mark. X."

—S—
They all spoke well of you, Ezekiel.

The above contrib, submitted by Powder Puff, wins today's double pass given by the Rialto theater to see Clive Brook and Claudette Colbert in "The Man From Yesterday." The winner may receive her pass between 3 and 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Scout office, in the basement of University hall.

—S—
They all spoke well of you, Heinrich.

WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES A PH. D. MAKE BETWEEN FRIENDS?
Dear Scout:
I think he has the sweetest smile—
It makes my day more sunny.
I always try to catch his eye,
When anything is funny.

I think that he's quite handsome—
—yes—
And he has more than one good feature.

But I'm only the girl in the front row—
And he's my Geography teacher!!!!
—Odear—

They all spoke well of you, Ebenezer.

—S—
WE'LL SEE WHAT INN DIAN SAYS—

Dear Scout:
Do you suppose Inn Dian could make some faultless plans, whereby, in a "coke and smoke," or library we could meet—just he and I?

I'd like to know that brilliant lad—
My phone number you didn't rate!
If he likes this plan, I hope
It won't share Ronalee's fate.

—Tasku—
They all spoke well of you, Joshua.

—S—
FROM A SORORITY WINDOW

Well, he asked me for a date—
Who am I to hesitate?
He says my hair is pretty, too.
And praise is cheering when you're blue,
But somehow, he's so dumb and bold
His very presence leaves me cold.
Oh, dear—why can't I like the men
Who always call me back again?
And why do my thoughts aimlessly roam
Toward those who never, never phone?

—Ronalee—
They all spoke well of you, Daniel.

—S—
Then there is the story about the B. W. O. C., and very pretty, too—who had a good date for the summer prom. And she refused three other dates—count 'em—because she already had promised this boy, whom she liked very much—to go with him.

And then, last week-end, he calmly told her that he was sorry, but he couldn't take her, as he had persuaded his girl from home to come up.
So the B. W. O. C. is left without any date. If any one of the three recognizes this, there will be one happy heart on Mathews avenue if they call her back.

—S—
They all spoke well of you, Gerald.

—S—
HAVE WE HEARD THIS SOMEWHERE BEFORE?

Poor little fly on the wall,
He ain't got no folks at all.
No one combs his little head,
Or tucks him in his little bed,
Or tries to smooth his hair, hard way;
But he don't care, he flies 'all day
Till someone swats him on the wall.
Poor little fly—that's all.

—Billy Boy—
They all spoke well of you, Matthew.

—S—
FAMOUS LAST LINE
"Get me a blind date!"

FORMER ASSOCIATE Y. W. SECRETARIES WED THIS MONTH

Miss Curran Receives Announcements of Marriages of Miss Edmunson, Miss Grenavere Stanley

Miss Doris Curran, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., has received announcements of the recent marriages of Miss Margaret Jane Edmunson and Miss Grenavere Stanley, both of whom were formerly associate Y. secretaries.

Miss Edmunson, who was associated with the University Y. W. C. A. during the school year of 1929-30, and Henry Holmes Norton, were married yesterday in the Episcopal church, Eugene, Ore. Miss Edmunson is the daughter of Mrs. Ella Edmunson, 84 19th street, Eugene.

Mrs. Norton was graduated from the University of Oregon with the class of 1928. During her junior year, she acted as president of the University of Oregon Y. W. C. A., and during her senior year she served as chairman of the regional council of the Y. W. C. A. camp at Seabeck, Ore. She is a member of Mortar Board.

Mr. Norton also graduated from the University of Oregon. He will be a student this year in the Medical school, University of Washington, Seattle.

Miss Stanley and Robert Todd were married last week in the summer home of the bride's parents, on Sunset lake, near New London, N. H. Mrs. Todd served as associate secretary at the University Y for two years, 1927-29.

She graduated with the class of 1927 from Smith college, Northampton, Mass. Since leaving the University, she has served as assistant principal of the Buckingham school for girls, Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. Todd graduated from Bowdoin college, Brunswick, Me., where he is a member of Sigma Nu. At present he is an instructor in a school for boys near Boston, Mass.

Miss Barry Tells Of Anderson's Play On Queen Elizabeth

"In the play, 'Elizabeth the Queen,' by Maxwell Anderson, Elizabeth is shown as a woman as well as a monarch," Miss Jane Barry said to members of the Medra club yesterday noon at a luncheon in the Green Gate, Champaign.

"The play shows Elizabeth as she goes from one mood to another, first the proud and haughty daughter of a long line of kings, and then a woman who is greatly in love with the young and handsome Essex. It shows Essex as a powerful general, as well as his other side, a lover. The play shows two powerful people as they struggle with each other for the throne and as they struggle with themselves in their attempt to maintain their love without losing power to rule," the speaker concluded.

Miss Ruth Brittenham is in charge of a surprise meeting to be held next Monday noon. The place has not been arranged.

"Christ in Music" Is Wesley Theme At Service in Hall

Watseka hall of the Wesley foundation was given a cathedral majesty Sunday evening to portray the life of "Christ in Music."

At the east end of the hall the platform steps served as a framework for the red velvet altar which enclosed a silver cross lit by two stately candles.

Members of the chorus were grouped as two arched wings, one on each side of the altar. Musical selections from the works of Gottschalk, Mendelssohn, Handel, Harrington, Parker, and Hasler were interpreted by the chorus, the quartet, and by a soloist. The audience took part in the singing of hymns.

"The Rev. Leslie Archer, minister of the Trinity Methodist church, Urbana, was in charge of the program. It was sponsored by members of the University Place Christian church, Champaign, and members of the Wesley foundation.

Next Sunday night Mrs. George Dungan of the University Place Christian church, will give an interpretive reading of Peter B. Kyne's story, "The Go-Getters." This also will be held at 8 o'clock in Watseka hall, Wesley foundation.

Goodell Views This Country's Characteristics

This country has a great task before it in the deciding of right and wrong, if it overthrows the moral and ethical authority of the Bible, according to Dr. W. A. Goodell, teacher of religious education, who spoke at the Sunday morning joint service of the University Baptist, First Congregational, and the McKinley Memorial University Presbyterian churches. The service was held in the McKinley church, Fifth and John streets, Champaign.

Hope is the only characteristic Christian virtue in the United States today, stated Dr. Goodell in picturing the excessive individualism and materialism of our age and our country.

Other virtues not characteristic of the nation, which Dr. Goodell named, were faith, love, self-control, gentleness, brotherhood, justice, and courage. Not only Christianity, but all great religions such as Buddhism and Mohammedanism as well as the teachings of the Greek philosophers, Aristotle and Plato, stress these same virtues.

"This is entirely a Christian nation," Dr. Goodell pointed out. "We are what we are because of Christianity. If we have difficulties, they are the difficulties that go hand in hand with Christianity."

Illustrates Point
For a concrete illustration he reminded his listeners that Len Small at one time taught the largest Bible class in the state. Big business men, too, are Christians. We are run by Christianity; business is run by Christianity," Dr. Goodell concluded.

"Suppose," he suggested, "that we strip away all the moral authority of the Bible. We then impose a new obligation upon ourselves—the obligation of deciding right and wrong and of discovering our own ethical principles. It means we must begin at the bottom and build up a system of morals for the individual and for the nation."

Mission Group to Study Papal Lands

"Papal Lands" will be the subject for the program at the meeting of the Catherine Garman Missionary society of the Congregational-Christian church of Urbana at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. John Hill will be the leader for the program.

Women's Societies

Mrs. Maye Hamilton, grand regent, presided at the business meeting of the women of the Moose last night in Moose hall, 20 Taylor street, Champaign. A social meeting followed with Mrs. Wanita Derman in charge. Assistants were Mrs. Caroline Pfeiffer, Mrs. Kate Benford, Mrs. Lucille Borah, and Mrs. Clara Livick. A social meeting will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of Mrs. Benford, 308 West Elm street, Urbana. The time will be spent in playing 500.

Mrs. Laurence Dilley will entertain members of the Carriers' auxiliary at 7:30 o'clock tonight in her home, 1004 South Lynn street, Urbana. Reports will be given by the two delegates to the convention, Mrs. J. B. Gasset and Mrs. Hollis Middleton. Four tables of buncos will be in play during the social hour which will follow the business session.

Group 3 of the Women's Work society of University Place Christian church will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. L. Moody, 504 East Chalmers street, Champaign. Mrs. H. H. Broad will be in charge of the business meeting, after which the afternoon will be spent in sewing.

Mrs. A. J. Freeman will be hostess to members of the A. T. C. club at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in her home, 109 West Vine street, Champaign. Three tables of buncos will be in play. Awards will be given for first and second score.

Mrs. Cora Price will preside at the regular meeting of the Women's Relief corps, to be held this afternoon in I. O. O. F. hall, Champaign. After the business session a social hour will be enjoyed.

'RELIGION IS ART,' SAYS PROF. MOREY IN VESPER SPEECH

Comptroller Gives Address at Fourth of Series of Services on Auditorium Steps

By KATHERINE FILSON '35
"Religion is an art, hence it calls all other arts to its aid. It is itself the leading patron and great fountain source of art. Arts ministering to and inspired by religion are architecture, sculpture, painting, literature, music, drama, and speech," said Prof. Lloyd Morey, comptroller, at the vesper service Sunday night on the Auditorium steps.

Old world churches are excellent examples of art in worship, according to the speaker. Architecture, sculpture, and painting are used in Westminster, St. Paul's, King's chapel, Christ Oxford, Cologne, Madeline, Notre Dame, and St. Peter's.

"Men live on work, play, love, and worship. Worship is a means of the renewal of depleted spiritual energies," stated Prof. Morey. "By it men seek to quicken the sense of God and confirm and deepen their feelings and aspirations toward him. Worship must therefore necessarily be an art."

"To accomplish such an end, there must be a maximum use of all arts in their fullest and most perfect expression. Worship is important in crowded and troubled lives as relief to strain and stress. It gives spiritual force an opportunity to help maintain our poise and equilibrium amid conflict and confusion," concluded Prof. Morey.

The Trinity church quartet, including Mrs. Lloyd Morey, soprano; Mrs. C. S. Ricketts, contralto; George Potts, tenor, and Ray L. Shaw, bass, sang several numbers

FIREMEN DROP CLOSE ENCOUNTER TO PASTIME BALL CLUB, 4-3

TOO MANY DUCKS LEFT ON POND IS LOSERS' TROUBLE

Frank Homfeld Allows Only Four Hits, Yet Loses Pitching Contest to Jim Prevette

By TOM SMITH '33

Failure of his mates to come through in the pinch cost Frank Homfeld and the Firemen a close ball game to the Pastime nine yesterday, 4-3. Homfeld allowed only four hits and the same number of runs while Jim Prevette, on the mound for the Pastimers, yielded six for only half that number of runs.

As a factual pointer to the reason for the final outcome the records show that nine Firemen were left on base to the winners' four. Tall Frank Pfeffer appeared in right field for the Firemen and smacked out the only extra base hit of the game, a two-bagger in the second inning, which placed him in a position to score the Firemen's first run on his brother Johnny's single.

Errors Costly

Errors were costly to the losers in the second game when the Pastime nine scored two runs off of one hit, a base on balls, and a bobbie each by Johnny Pfeffer and Steve Payne. The first Pastime run, in the initial inning had also been a result of first sacker Pfeffer's wild throw to third.

The Pastimers scored their winning tally in the fifth frame, their only earned run. Demlow walked and was sacrificed to second by Glen Whitson. Randall was out at first. Demlow advanced to third and scored on Kelley's only hit of the day, a single.

Double Plays Silence Rally

It looked for a moment in the last half of the seventh that the Firemen were going to stage a rally which has so often been nipped a Pastime win in the bud. After Richards had popped out to Whitson, Jim Prevette walked both Ike Hill and Hicks.

Jelak hit to short but Kelley fielded the ball perfectly and threw to Fred Corray who in turn relayed the ball to John Fuzak for a double play which retired the side. The same combination had completed another twin-out in the third frame.

Play Protest Today

Today the league leading Y. M. C. A. nine will play the third place I. P. & L. team in a protested contest. The I. P. & L. has been showing great stuff lately with Bud Weise in the box and should offer plenty of competition to the leaders. The first game between the two squads was won by the Y and later protested because of the ineligibility of one of the latter's players.

John Jadick Retains Welterweight Title

PHILADELPHIA, July 18. — (AP) — Johnny Jadick of Philadelphia retained his world's junior welterweight crown tonight by winning a 10-round decision over Tony Canzoneri, lightweight world champion, in a slug-fest at the Phillies' ball park. The crowd booed the decision and three cushions into the ring.

Canzoneri, whose lightweight title was not at stake, made a strong bid to regain the junior welter crown which he lost to Jadick six months ago, but a stinging left jab continually thwarted him.

Tony did plenty of stiff punching, however, and several times Jadick was staggered with right hand punches to the jaw and body. Canzoneri was fighting at a weight disadvantage of two and one-quarter pounds, scaling 133 to Jadick's 135 1-4.

Kaye Don Travels 119.81 M. P. H.; Speedboat Record

LUSS, LOCH LOMOND, Scotland, July 18. — (AP) — Kaye Don today drove his new Miss England 111 over the silvery surface of storied Loch Lomond at the record speed of 119.81 miles an hour to return again to Great Britain the world speed standard for water travel.

Twice he drove his powerful boat over the measured mile course, breaking the world mark on both occasions. On the first try, made just at dawn, he averaged 117.43 miles per hour. Not satisfied with that he made another run in mid-morning to hang up his new average and for the first time in the history of man travel at faster than two miles a minute over water. On his second trial he attained a speed of 120.50 miles per hour on the run with the wind.

Wilson, Wright Help Brooklyn Beat Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 18. — (AP) — Timely hitting by Hack Wilson and Glenn Wright gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 7 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Wilson came through with a double in the seventh, scoring two runs when the Cards were trying to protect a one-run lead obtained when they scored three runs off Van Mungo in the sixth. Wright sewed up the game in the eighth, hammering out a home run on the heels of Cuccinello's single.

Joe Shaute, following Mungo on the mound, was credited with the victory, his second in as many days.

Public Links Golf Qualifying Round Will Begin Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18. — (AP) — The New York team made a dash for home today after a squabble over expenses and golf balls, while most of the 220 entrants in the National Public Links Golf tournament here were practicing for tomorrow's qualifying round.

The six New Yorkers, however, were pulled off a bus by T. J. McMahon and a local committee and agreed to go into further conferences with Louis Hess, team manager.

After a long series of conferences the six New York players, representing some of the best talent in the tournament, got their clubs and boarded a bus for New York. McMahon and a local committee heard about it in time to have the bus held while they raced from the golf course.

With the bus driver tumbling, the six finally clambered out, got back their tickets and their baggage and went into conference again. They claimed that after arrival here Saturday Hess had refused to pay their expenses for more than five days and had told them each man had to depart as he was eliminated. They also claimed the balls furnished them were not regulation.

Hess, a United States Golf association public links committee member, claimed the balls were regulation and while he declined to explain his side publicly pending taking it up with U. S. G. officials, he proclaimed that "if they stay they'll stay on my terms."

Louis Kemler of St. Joseph, Mo., turned in the best practice round of the day, 37-31 for a total of 68, the last nine holes five under par. Par is 36-36-72.

Gene Sarazen, winner of both the British and United States Open crowns this year, and Tommy Armour, no slouch himself at this business of golfing, have been booked for an exhibition July 28 at Danville. They will play 18 holes over the Danville country club course and Armour will lecture on wood and iron shots.

HAWKIN 'EM

By BOB HAWKINS

ALTHOUGH Illinois failed to place a man on the United States Olympic track and field team this year, praise is in order for every one of those seven stout Illini athletes who traveled to the coast. It was an honor even to be able to compete in the Palo Alto trials, since a series of preliminary tryouts all over the country had eliminated all mediocre talent.

Huddie Hellmich failed by inches to qualify for the 100-meter finals, and he was fifth in his heat which qualified three for the finals in the 200-meters. By these performances he can be judged among the ten best sprinters in the country.

Capt.-elect Ike Lennington and Varne Moormeier tied for seventh in the pole vault with successful leaps of 13 feet, 4 inches, along with Lee Barnes, Bryce Beecher and other favorites. Although Irving Seely could not attain better than 12 feet, 10 inches, it must be remembered that he has been up against the world's best pole vaulting competition his freshman year in school. Given three more years in which to develop, Seely may be topping the bar along with the best of them.

One yard separated Byron Grant of Utah and Lee Seitzman of Illinois in the second heat of the qualifying trials for the 110-meter hurdles. Byron qualified; Lee didn't. Later Lee ran in the 220 low hurdles A. U. championships and took second behind George Saling, the great Hawkeye timber topper.

By surviving the qualifying round of the discus trials, Frank Purma established himself as one of the eight best tossers in the nation. And Dean Woolsey proved he still can run by placing sixth in his heat in qualifying trials for the 1,500-meters run. Dean has consolation in the fact that even such highly touted favorites as Gene Venzke and Henry Brooksmith did not make the Olympic team.

Illinois will have representation, however, for Miss Jane Fauntz has already been named to the United States Olympic diving squad. If the men cannot, the women will!

ONE OF THE HIGHLIGHTS of the Palo Alto meet was the comeback of M. Taylor of the Illinois A. C., who established a world record in the 400-meters in 1928. After a three year layoff, he returned to active competition and qualified for the American team in that difficult event. Taylor coaches track at Quincy high school.

See where Ed Lejeck '32, Big Ten tennis singles champion, is sweeping aside all opposition in the Chicago public parks tennis tournament. Lejeck has entered the fourth round and is still going strong.

In 70 rounds of competitive golf this year, "Lighthorse Harry" Cooper of Chicago, present Canadian open champion has compiled an average score of 72.6—a record for the best of golfers to shoot at.

Two of the outstanding age coaches in this part of the country, Mark Peterman and LaRue Van Meter, are studying here this summer. Peterman coached Canton high school to a runners-up position for the National basketball championship in 1928. In the fall of 1929 he took over the unenviable job of coaching at Springfield high, then a floundering door mat of the Big 12 conference, and in three years brought them to the top of the league. Van Meter was at the helm of Johnston City's athletics in 1929 when that Southern school won the state cage title. He will coach at Jacksonville State Teachers college next year and will take Ray Nuss-pickel '32 along to assist him.

James Major '26 is visiting his brother, Freddie, in Champaign, James, who played quite a bit of semi-pro ball in the Twin Cities a few years ago, is now a successful coach at Normandy high, St. Louis.

Gene Sarazen, winner of both the British and United States Open crowns this year, and Tommy Armour, no slouch himself at this business of golfing, have been booked for an exhibition July 28 at Danville. They will play 18 holes over the Danville country club course and Armour will lecture on wood and iron shots.

SPLINTERS—Bob Zuppke toured a Windsor Ontario golf course in 68 and won himself a trophy over the week-end. . . . Ernie Orsatti who formerly doubled for Buster Keaton, was placed in organized baseball by the film star. . . . Incidentally Keaton is a player of no mean ability. . . . Jim Thorpe, rated by many experts as the greatest football player who ever donned a suit, once played outfield for the New York Giants.

4 NON-QUALIFIERS TO VIE FOR U. S. IN BRITAIN MEET

Johnny Morris, Gene Venzke, George Bullwinkle, Otto Rosner Meet Empire Squad August 14

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 18. — (AP) — Four of the stars who failed to make the American Olympic track and field team gained some consolation today by notification that they were selected to represent the United States in the meet scheduled with British Empire athletes at San Francisco, August 14.

They are Johnny Morris of Louisiana, high hurdler who was barely beaten out by Percy Beard for the third Olympic berth; Gene Venzke of the New York A. C., mile star who finished fourth in the 1500 meter run, and George Bullwinkle and Otto Rosner, New York boys who were fourth and fifth in the 800 meters final.

Their selections were made by the Amateur Athletic union, which will sponsor the meet with the British Empire.

Olympic competitors will make up the main body of the team, but the additional athletes well be needed because all races with the British Empire forces are on a relay basis.

Morris will team with Jack Keller, George Saling and Percy Beard in the 400-yard shuttle hurdle relay. Venzke will run with the four-mile relay quartet, while Bullwinkle and Rosner will be used on the two-mile or medley relay squads.

Members of the American team will rest most of this week, before and after leaving for the Olympic night, Los Angeles, Wednesday night. Most of them were taken on a picnic today.

The coaching staff, headed by Lawson Robertson of Pennsylvania, will organize final workouts by the end of the week, designed to keep most of the stars at the peak they showed here or bring others back to better form.

CARD CHICAGO MEET

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — Olympic championship winners of all nations will compete in an international track and field meet on the night of August 18, J. Lyman Bingham, assistant to President Avery Brundage of the National A. A. U. announced today.

The meet will be held in Soldier Field, where the champions of the British empire and the United States met in July, 1930, in the first international meet under lights. Finland and Germany will be represented by full teams, according to Bingham, while other nations will be represented by their outstanding stars. The United States team also will be at full strength for the meet which will be a sort of one night edition of the Olympic games.

Seeded Players Win in Women's Net Tournament

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 18. — (AP) — The opening rounds in the Essex Country club women's invitation tennis tournament were played in orthodox fashion with seven of the eight seeded players qualifying for the round of 16.

Mrs. Dorothy Weisel Hack of Chicago, who was seeded fourth, was missing when play was called and was defaulted.

The top-seeded Mrs. Lawrence A. Harper of Oakland, Calif., runner-up to Mrs. Helen Willis Moody in last year's tourney, had an easy passage into the third round.

Although in competition for the first time since her return from England, where she played for the American Wightman cup team, the left-handed internationalist smothered Mrs. John Yerxa of Boston, losing only one game of the dozen.

The draw for the doubles play, which opens tomorrow was made with 24 teams. The six seeded in order were: Mrs. Van Ryn and Miss Cruickshank, the Longwood winners; Mrs. Harper and Mrs. Pinner; Sarah and Mianne Fairfax; Miss Rice and Carolyn Babcock, Berkeley, Cal.; Miss Greef and Baroness Maude, Leval of New York; Anne Page, Philadelphia and Mae Cuervo of Wichita, Kan.

Find Another Bullet In Body of Jurges

CHICAGO, July 18. — (AP) — Bill Jurges, Chicago Cub shortstop, took another trip to the hospital tonight and had another bullet removed from his body.

Jurges was released from the hospital a week ago after apparently recovering from bullet wounds when he attempted to prevent Violet Popovich Valli, divorcee and former chorus girl, from shooting herself.

A recurrence of pain in his right side made necessary another examination which revealed a bullet lodged between the ninth and tenth ribs on the right side.
